Value of an Opening Win

IT'S TODAY that it all really begins to happen. The pre-season matches, against Glasgow Rangers and in Majorca, were serious encounters, but their main purpose was to give our team the edge, rhythm and tactical co-ordination necessary for a good start to the League season.

Apart from the tangible reward of the two points, a win in the opening League match is all-important. It breeds confidence, and sharpens the appetite for success of everyone connected with the Club.

This season we have been given a home match on the opening day. It is a factor in our favour, but the maximum effort from our players is necessary if we are to turn it to our advantage.

It could be argued, on last season's results, that ground advantage matters little in matches with West Ham United, our welcome visitors this afternoon. After all, we won at Upton Park, and were defeated in the return game on this ground!

The memory of last season could encourage West Ham today, but it should also have the effect of stiffening the resolve of our own players. When all the pros and cons are weighed up, however, the basic fact remains that Spurs are the home team today, and it is an advantage that on the opening day of a new League season, we do not view lightly.

Formidable though the opposition is, we are at home again next Wednesday evening to Leeds United. It is the first time we have commenced our League programme with two home matches since 1965, when we took all four points from Leicester City and Blackpool, and significantly perhaps, went on to gain six out of the next eight points without sustaining defeat.

The opposition we now face is sterner, but the benefits of a winning start provide a great incentive.

EXTRA SPICE

The first match of the season is always a big occasion. When it happens to be a local "derby", it becomes an even bigger occasion.

In the past we have had many splendid matches with the Hammers, and we hope today's encounter proves to be no exception.

Extra spice is, of course, added to today's clash by the appearance of Jimmy Greaves, our former star, in the West Ham team, and the inclusion in our own line-up of Martin Peters against his former colleagues from Upton Park.

The transfer deal involving these celebrated players was completed last March, and they play against their former clubs for the first time today.

LAST SEASON

It was a quick one-two by West Ham last December that paved the way to our defeat after we had dominated play in the opening 10 minutes.

Martin Peters put the Hammers in front and two minutes later Geoff Hurst cracked in a second to leave us beaten 2-0.

IN TRAINING AT CHESHUNT

A welcome break for rest and refreshment.

RANGERS BEATEN

A 2-0 win over Glasgow Rangers on Monday evening last week gave us a good start to our match programme.

As it was our first game in public, the result was particularly gratifying. Rangers had been to Germany, and had already played a number of matches.

Spurs were much the sharper team, and fully deserved to win. Bobby Watson, Rangers' goalkeeper, made fine saves from Martin Chivers and Alan Gilzean before the latter headed through from an inch-accurate cross from Roger Morgan.

This goal was an almost exact replica of a move a minute earlier. Gilzean had then headed in, but was whistled "offside".

After Morgan had headed Spurs' second goal well before half-time, there never seemed any doubt about the result.

SPURS: Jennings; Evans, Knowles; Mullery, England, Beal; Gilzean, Perryman, Chivers, Peters and Morgan.

DOUBLE DEFEAT

The results of our two matches in the Palma de Mallorca International Tournament last week-end were disappointing, but Spurs played some good football.

Our first match, against F.C. Cologne, was generally considered the best of the whole tournament. Our team was: Jennings; Evans, Knowles; Mullery, England, Beal; Gilzean, Perryman, Chivers, Peters and Pearce (sub. Collins, P.).

Our play-off match for 3rd and 4th place against Atletico Madrid started only 21 hours after the end of the Cologne game. Again we lost 1-0 and our team was Jennings; Kinnear, Knowles; Mullery (sub. Bond), Collins, P., Beal; Gilzean, Perryman, Chivers, Peters and Pearce.

Poor finishing was our main fault, but the most regrettable feature was, of course, the dismissal from the field of Cyril Knowles and Martin Peters in the match with Cologne.

They were not alone. Atletico Madrid had a player sent off in their first match, and two players from each side were ordered off in the Final between C.D.N.A., Bulgaria and Cologne. No less than seven players were therefore sent off in the course of the four-match tournament.

REFEREE FOR TODAY

The man in the middle today is Mr. Bob Matthewson of Worsley, Manchester.

Mr. Matthewson is a former professional player. A centre-half, he played in Bolton Wanderers' First Division team in season 1952-53.

In season 1958-59 he started refereeing in local Bolton leagues, and progressed through the Bolton Combination and the Northern Premier League to the Linesmen's List of the Football League in 1966-67.

Two seasons later he was promoted to the League List of Referees.

Mr. Matthewson, who was a linesman in last season's F.A. Cup Final, is Vice-Chairman of the Bolton Referees' Society.

In connection with our away match with Crystal Palace on September 19th, supporters may wish to note that tickets for seats at £1, 16s. and 13s. will be available one month in advance. Application must be made direct to the Palace club at Selhurst Park, London, S.E.25.

TODAY'S VISITORS

WEST HAM UNITED

WEST HAM UNITED have been described as the "Entertainers". A more complimentary term could not be applied to any football team, and the reputation of the Hammers for playing attractive soccer reflects considerable credit on their Manager, Mr. Ron Greenwood.

It is a ruthless fact of football life that an attractive style is not necessarily attended by success. The record books show that West Ham's last major success was the winning of the European Cup-Winners' Cup in 1965.

Yet the Hammers have stuck to their principles without discarding their aim to harness effectiveness to the creative side of their play.

There are big names in the Hammers' line-up, and the club's chances of staging a fight for top honours this season cannot be dismissed.

FAMILIAR FIGURE

There are World Cup players in West Ham's ranks, but pride of place today must be given to Jimmy Greaves, who is making his first appearance here since his transfer last March.

Jimmy Greaves

It was on this ground that Jimmy made his League debut in 1957 for Chelsea. That was the opening day of the season, and now, 13 years later, his every movement will demand the closest attention from our defence.

Between his arrival here as a Spurs player in November, 1961, and his departure last season, Jimmy scored no less than 267 goals for the Club in senior competitive matches.

Helping Greaves in the search for goals today will be Geoff Hurst, England star and member of the World Cup team.

The fame of Hurst, like that of Bobby Moore, the West Ham and England captain, is universal. Little can be written about either player that is not already known.

Perhaps the most gratifying fact to West Ham about this distinguished pair is that both are products of their own nursery system.

CONTRAST

There is a contrast in the careers of goalkeepers Peter Grotier and Bobby Ferguson. Grotier is a local from Stratford, who developed through

West Ham's junior ranks before making his League debut on this ground two seasons ago.

Ferguson is an experienced Scottish international, who was signed from Kilmarnock in June 1967. Over the last three seasons he has made nearly a century of League appearances.

Full-back Billy Bonds was another big signing from Charlton Athletic. He joined the Hammers in May, 1967 and has been ever-present in the League side in the last two seasons.

Frank Lampard is a home-produced defender, who was born in West Ham. He gained five England Youth caps, and made his League debut against Manchester City in November, 1967.

Peter Eustace is a newcomer to the Hammers since their visit last season. He was signed from Sheffield Wednesday last January, but was handicapped last season by a groin injury. Usually, he fills a midfield position.

EX-PALACE

Centre-half Alan Stephenson is the former Crystal Palace player. A former England Under-23 player, he joined West Ham in March, 1968.

Ron Boyce, who wore the No. 8 shirt in West Ham's F.A. Cup-winning team of 1964, has completed 10 years as a professional with the club this summer. He is yet another of West Ham's local discoveries.

Clyde Best has quickly made his mark in the Hammers' attack. He comes from Bermuda, and made his League debut last August.

Half-back Bobby Howe has made steady progress since making his League debut as a substitute in September, 1966, and Pat Holland and Paul Heffer are other young players who come into the running for senior selection.

All three are products of the West Ham nursery system, and have been carefully drilled to the pattern of play favoured by our East London rivals.

ANOTHER LOCAL

Trevor Brooking, who wore the No. 9 shirt when West Ham were here last season, is yet another local. In his schooldays he played for Ilford, London and Essex, and in season 1963-64 was in the England Boys team.

Peter Bennett, named as No. 4 today, comes from Hillingdon and played for England and Middlesex Boys before joining West Ham in 1961.

Presenting . . .

ALAN MULLERY

EVERY MEMBER of England's World Cup team has become a household name. Alan Mullery, who has been our regular Club skipper since the departure of Dave Mackay for Derby County two years ago, is one of them, and there is little about him not already known to the majority of football followers.

When Alan lined up for England against West Germany in that drama-soaked Quarter-final match at Leon in June, he was making his 34th appearance in an England shirt. To that impressive record he can add three appearances for the Under-23s and two for the Football League.

Alan was brought up in Notting Hill, where he attended St. John's School. He was an outside-right or centre-forward in the school team, but after switching to right-half gained a place in the West London district side.

After leaving school Alan signed for Fulham. His League debut was against Orient in a Second Division match, and it happened that Eddie Baily, our assistant-manager, was in the opposing attack.

FIRST CAP

Alan joined Spurs from Fulham in March, 1964, and made his debut in a home match against Manchester United a week later. His first full cap, against Holland in Amsterdam, came the following December.

Alan and his wife, June, live at Worcester Park in Surrey. They have a 20-month-old daughter, Samantha.

For our popular skipper this has been a varied and interesting summer. After a short rest "back home" following his return from Mexico, he took his family on a Mediterranean cruise. And for his performance in Mexico he was named "England Footballer of the World Cup" by the Evening Standard.

Alan has missed one League match only in each of the last three seasons. In all, he has made 253 League appearances for Spurs, but F.A., League and European Cup-Winners' Cups swell his total to 292.

He has scored 16 League goals for Spurs.

About the Hammers . . .

WEST HAM have something in common with Cambridge United, the new Football League club. West Ham's first-ever match in the League, in August 1919, was at home to Lincoln City. Today Cambridge play their first match in the League, at home to the same club.

No fewer than five members of the West Ham team that won the F.A. Cup in 1964 have changed clubs this summer. The only members of that team still with West Ham are Bobby Moore, Ron Boyce and Geoff Hurst.

West Ham have a place in history as the first club ever to lose a Wembley Final. They were beaten 2-0 by Bolton Wanderers in the first Wembley Final in 1923.

Mr. Eddie Chapman, West Ham's secretary, was at one time a professional player with the club. In fact, he played inside-right against Spurs in the Second Division match at Upton Park in September, 1948.

When Jimmy Greaves moved to West Ham last March he was by no means the first Spurs forward to be transferred to the Upton Park club. In earlier years Dave Dunmore and Les Bennett had made the same move.

West Ham can make the proud claim that when England beat West Germany in the Final of the World Cup in 1966, they had three players in the team, namely Bobby Moore, Geoff Hurst and Martin Peters.

West Ham gained election to the Football League when the number of clubs in membership was extended from 40 to 44 in 1919. The other three newcomers at that time were Coventry and the old South Shields and Rotherham County clubs.

West Ham were the first club to win the Football League War Cup Final when they beat Blackburn 1-0 at Wembley in 1940. Dick Walker, who is now on Spurs' staff, was West Ham's centre-half on that occasion.

The late Jack Tresadern, who played left-half for West Ham in the first Wembley Final in 1923, and made two appearances for England, managed Spurs from 1935 to 1938.

West Ham's record away win in the Football League was by 6-0 at Leicester in February, 1923. It was significant that when that season ended, the Hammers won promotion on goal average. . . over Leicester!

West Ham first played under floodlights well over 60 years ago. It was a primitive system with lights mounted on poles, but it showed that the Hammers were well ahead of their time!

Mr. Charlie Paynter, the former West Ham manager, still watches the club's home matches at the age of 91! Charlie, who lives at Barking, served the Hammers as player, trainer and manager over the first 50 years of this century.

AT WEST HAM LAST YEAR

Jimmy Pearce scores the goal that gave Spurs victory over West Ham at Upton Park last season.

Jimmy Greaves and Bobby Moore are now West Ham team-mates. Last season they were opponents and in this close-up shot at Upton Park they look manacled to each other!

FLASHBACK

TO 20 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK-END

A public trial match was staged on this ground between the Whites (first team) and the Reds (reserves).

The Whites, three up at half-time, finished winners by 5—1 with goals from Sonny Walters 2, Len Duquemin, Eddie Baily and Les Medley.

The gate figure at that match was 15,632.

Spurs were newly-promoted to the First Division, and the League season opened on the following Saturday, when Blackpool were our visitors.

Bobby Steel, who captained Spurs before the First World War, has celebrated his 82nd birthday this summer. We are glad to hear that Mr. Steel, who lives at Winchmore Hill, is still in good health, and following our fortunes with keen interest.

Spurs Youth and Junior teams played friendly matches against Crystal Palace at Cheshunt last Saturday. The Youth team won 4—1, but the Juniors were beaten 3—1.

CLUB HANDBOOK

The Club Handbook for this season is on sale here on the ground today, and as usual provides a mine of information. The cost is still 2s. or 2s. 6d. by post. In addition to the usual mass of data on individual players, performances of our various teams last season and past records, the Handbook includes a Foreword by the Chairman, Mr. Sidney A. Wale, and a photographic section spanning last season. This year's Handbook also includes a complete record of the World Cup series in Mexico this summer.

PRESENTATION

After the match with Glasgow Rangers here last week, a radio set, suitably inscribed, was presented by the Chairman, Mr. Sidney A. Wale, to Mr. "Jock" Richardson, who has retired after many years as Spurs' scout in Scotland.

Many of our older supporters will remember Jock. He played at full-back for Spurs from 1925 to 1929, and later for Reading and Bournemouth. A happy retirement, Jock.
