TOPICS OF THE WEEK

There was a great feeling at Highbury that, on this season's form, we were capable of beating Leeds on Tuesday night. When Eddie Kelly was sent off with well over an hour of the match remaining (an event on which we have no comment to make) there were few people inside the stadium who continued to share that view. Indeed, it seemed that our ten could scarcely expect to hold Leeds in a tactical battle in which Leeds had a man over all the time and with their talent must surely be able to exploit a situation like this. But to Arsenal's gallant ten went all the honours. We might easily have won so much pressure did our players exert on a Leeds defence which at times by no means looked happy with the position. It is invidious to single out individual players for praise—they all deserved it, but it might not be out of place for us to say how superbly our two young defenders Pat Rice and John Roberts performed, both defensively and offensively. It was certainly an Arsenal night to remember.

Well, we lost our unbeaten record at Stamford Bridge last Saturday just when most of our supporters there thought that we were coming away with a point. Chelsea scored with only five minutes left for play against an Arsenal side without John Radford, as well as without Peter Simpson, Jon Sammels and Charlie George, and including all our four full-backs in the re-shuffled formation. Eddie Kelly's goal in the second-half which put us on level terms gave the boys great heart, and the non-partisan watcher (if there were any there in the crowd of 53,722!) might have thought that we were unlucky to lose. With our resources stretched so much at the moment because of injuries all our three teams on Saturday were below strength, and all three lost 2-1, the first time for a very long time that the scores were identical in all three matches on the same day.

NO MOVEMENTS

Following the advice given in the Government Report on crowd control and by our local Police, it has been decided that people paying for admission to the North Terrace shall not be permitted to move out of that section, particularly into the Standing Enclosure under the West Stand.

Patrons will have noticed that in the railing at this point there is a gate, and this gate will be opened five minutes before the end of every first team match to enable those who are in the Enclosure to pass on to the North Terrace to facilitate their exit from the stadium, if they so wish.

LOWER TIER EAST

Following the policy which was fully explained in the final programmes of last season we have sold season tickets in the Lower Tier East Stand but, of course, we have not sold to capacity. Tickets for the remaining seats, therefore, are on sale for every match as advanced bookings and they are for numbered and reserved seats. We remind our supporters of this, once again, because at the first three home games of the season there appeared to be quite a number of people who were not aware of this. These tickets are 12/-d. each: bookable 21 days in advance under the same arrangements as booked seats for the upper tiers.

CUP REPLAY DATE

If our Football League Cup Tie at Ipswich next Tuesday is drawn the replay at Highbury will take place on Monday, 28th September, kick-off 7.30 p.m. This delay is necessary because we are involved in Fairs Cup ties in Rome on 16th September and at Highbury on 23rd September.

Frank McLintock, an inspiring Captain in the great ten man tactical battle against Leeds on Tuesday.

Why not visit the Restaurant in the WEST STAND, Highbury Hill, which is open EVERY DAY for lunch, except Sundays? There is also a Restaurant in the EAST STAND which is open on match days only. For further details, telephone 01-226 4968.

JOE KINNEAR: Has recently returned to the first team after being out, originally through injury, for most of last season. Began with St. Albans City and has been a Spurs professional since February 1965. Has eight international caps for the Republic of Ireland, the first in 1967 against Turkey. F.A. Cup winner's medal 1967. Born Dublin. 5 ft. 8½ in. 11 st. 6 lb.

After making three England Under-23 appearances, he won his first full cap against Holland in the 1964-65 season and has now played 31 times, including all England's 1970 World Cup matches. Was in 1967 F.A. Cup-winning team. Born Notting Hill. 5 ft. 9 in., 12 st. 4 lb.

MIKE ENGLAND: World-class centre-half who is particularly strong in the air. An inside-forward at school, he became an outside-right on Blackburn's groundstaff and was then switched to centre-half. Joined Spurs from Blackburn in August 1966 for £95,000. Regular choice for Wales for the past nine seasons—his full international caps now total 31. F.A. Cup-winner's medal 1967. Cup-winner's medal with Spurs in 1967. Started this season well, scoring two goals in the opening match against West Ham. Born Coupar Angus, Perthshire. 5 ft. 11 in., 12 st. 4 lb.

STEVE PERRYMAN: At 18 he is one of the most exciting midfield starlets in the country. Made his mark last season (debut v. Sunderland, September 1969), showing great maturity in 21 League games. Five England Schoolboy caps were followed by three Youth caps last season. He signed for Spurs as an apprentice professional in July 1967 and became a professional in January 1969. Born Ealing. 5 ft. 8 in., 10 st. 8 lb.

MARTIN CHIVERS: His early career at White Hart Lane dogged by injury, but he is showing good form this season. Was signed from Southampton in January 1968 for £125,000 and scored the winner against Sheffield Wednesday on his Spurs debut. Missed most of the 1968-69 season because of a serious knee injury. From 1964 to 1968 he earned seventeen caps for the England Under-23 side, which is still a record total. Born Southampton. 6 ft. 1 in., 13 st.

MARTIN PETERS: Went into the record books as Britain's first £200,000 footballer when joined Tottenham from West Ham last March (as part of which deal Jimmy Greaves moved in the opposite direction). THIS WEEK'S GUEST WRITER

BERNARD JOY (Evening Standard)

A curious feature of the relationship between the North London rivals, Arsenal and Tottenham Hotspur, is that generally speaking when one is in the ascendancy the other is in a decline. If the pattern is maintained, Arsenal's revival which culminated in the triumph in the Fairs Cup in April, is an ominous augury for Spurs, in that a slump could be on the way.

In other cities, clubs win major honours simultaneously. Liverpool won the League Championship in 1966, when Everton carried off the FA Cup. Two years later Manchester United brought the European Cup to England for the first time, while Manchester City were winning the Championship. The same thing happened in Birmingham before the war, when Aston Villa were in their hey-day. But Arsenal and Spurs never hit the jack-pot together, and indeed, the only season when two London clubs won a major honour was the last, when Chelsea added the FA Cup to the capital's sideboard.

When I spoke to Arsenal secretary Bob Wall about the relationship he commented, "I have often said how wonderful it would be for London football if the clubs did well together. But it never seems to happen. It is odd that when one club are dominant the others are in a decline and seem to be depressed into results below their true value. Spurs overtook us in 1951, we reached the Cup Final in 1952, won the League in the following year and had to wait 17 years before winning an honour again. During the intervening years Spurs did the double and wonderful things like that to steal all the glamour."

Spurs were the first professional organisation to bring the Cup south, when they beat Sheffield United 3-1 in the 1901 final. They were then in the Southern League. They repeated the feat 20 years later and during this period Arsenal were either in the Second Division, or hovering dangerously near it in the First.

The appointment of Herbert Chapman as Arsenal's manager in 1925 sent the club soaring and Spurs slipped into the background. During the next 25 years Spurs were relegated twice, spent only five seasons in the First Division and reached the semi-final of the Cup only once. Yet they played brilliant football on occasions, especially with "The Greyhounds", their speedy side of the 1930s.

Meanwhile Arsenal won the Championship six times and reached Wembley on five occasions, winning there three times. Their fame became so widespread during this halcyon period that "Arsenal" became synonymous with "British football" throughout the world.

Spurs were in front again in the League in 1951, but the ascendancy was only temporary because Arsenal won the Championship for the seventh time in 1953, under the captaincy of Joe Mercer.

In the decade 1957-67 Spurs reached the highest peak in their history. They became the only club to achieve the fabulous Cup and League double this century and won the Cup on two other occasions. They were the first club to win a European trophy, when they beat Atletico Madrid 5-1 in the final of the European Cup Winners' Cup in 1963.

During this ten year spell Arsenal passed Spurs once in the League and did not go beyond the sixth round of the Cup.

Arsenal got their nose in front again in 1967-8 by reaching the League Cup final, while Spurs were surprisingly removed from the Cup Winners' Cup by Lyons of France. While Arsenal were winning the Fairs Cup last season, Spurs slid to eleventh in the League—their lowest position since 1958-9.

Bob Wall believes that one of the reasons for the inferiority complex is the estrangement between the clubs in the 1920s. It started when Arsenal moved from Plumstead to Highbury in 1913, to sit astride the lines of communication from central London. The breach widened when League football was restarted in 1919 with the First Division increased by two to 22 clubs.

Chelsea and Spurs, the bottom two clubs in the First Division at the end of the last completed season, naturally thought they would continue, with the numbers made up by the top two from the Second, Derby and Preston. Chelsea stayed in alright, but, thanks to skilful campaigning, Spurs were voted out and their place given to Arsenal who had finished sixth in the Second Division!

The bitterness which followed between the clubs was reflected in some rough matches on the field and the Football Association found it necessary to set up a special Commission of Inquiry.

The breach was finally healed in the war, when Arsenal shared White Hart Lane and the modern relationships between the clubs are as friendly as possible. Now all we want is for Spurs and Arsenal to win a major trophy in the same season.

One thing is certain. Some of the greatest players British football has known, have played for the clubs. Here is my idea of the best-ever team drawn from them: Jack Kelsey (Arsenal), Alf Ramsey (Spurs), Eddie Hapgood (Arsenal), Danny Blanchflower (Spurs), Leslie Compton (Arsenal), Dave Mackay (Spurs), Cliff Jones (Spurs), Alex James (Arsenal), Ted Drake (Arsenal), Jimmy Greaves (Spurs), Jimmy Dimmock (Spurs).

SOME KIND FRIENDS NEEDED!

On my way to the first match of the season, the car I was travelling in was involved in a crash. I am now in hospital and expect to remain here for at least 12 weeks, missing 18 League matches. As the match was Everton and I am in a Liverpool hospital, I am well out of touch with what's happening down Highbury way. I wonder if there is any supporter who will write to me regularly, keeping me up with all the Highbury news.

My address is as follows:

Alan Martin,

P.S. Good luck to the boys, and congratulations on the good start.
